After January 1, 2018, the State has increased the one dollar ($1) fee charged on all Business Licenses to four-dollars ($4) for the CASp Certification and Training Fund. This is a State mandated fund used to facilitate compliance with construction requirements for disability access and for the training and retention of certified access specialists within the jurisdiction.

Under federal and state law, compliance with disability access laws is a serious and significant responsibility that applies to all California building owners and tenants with buildings open to the public.
