

Do you live in the City of San Pablo or unincorporated San Pablo?

Find out by looking at the map below!

If your home is within the green line, you are a City of San Pablo resident.

What is the difference?

If you are a City of San Pablo resident, you pay taxes to the city and, therefore, qualify for subsidized scholarships, assistance to small businesses as well as workforce and job training programs.

If your home is outside the green line, but you still have a San Pablo, CA address, you live in unincorporated San Pablo. When you live in an unincorporated part of San Pablo, your household falls under the jurisdiction of Contra Costa County, and you pay taxes to the County, not the City of San Pablo.
